

GUIDELINES

Articles are generally between 4,000-5,000 words in length. They should be between 25,000 and 40,000 characters, spaces and notes included.

Articles should contain the following information:

Title / Author(s)

Author's Footnote

Abstract, Key Words

Article Text

Footnote References

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Acknowledgments of colleagues, grants, funds, etc. should be placed as footnote.

AUTHOR'S FOOTNOTE

The Author's footnote should contain the institutional affiliation and the email address. A complete postal address is also required to send the printed copy of the journal, after publication.

ABSTRACTS AND KEY WORDS

The article text should be preceded by an English abstract. The abstract should summarize results, topics discussed, and main conclusions.

The English abstract is followed by three to five key words or phrases separated by comma which are used to index the article.

ARTICLE TEXT

HEADINGS. The main body of the article should be divided by appropriate numbered section and subsection headings.

ABBREVIATIONS. Abbreviations should be defined at first mention and used consistently thereafter.

FOOTNOTES. Footnotes should be used in a limited number and should be placed at the bottom of the page to which they refer.

TABLES. Tables should be numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals following the order in which they are cited. Therefore, each table must be cited in the text. In page layout tables should be placed in sequence as close as possible to their first citation. Each table must have a brief descriptive title on top:

Figures should be attached to the text in an open file format (300dpi) and will be published exclusively in black and white.

Please be sure that figures, graphs and tables fit within the page area (12,5 cm width x 19,5 c. height) and avoid light grey value shadings as well as fine hairlines which might not come out in print.

REFERENCE CITATIONS

All references must be cited in footnotes in the article text. Their accuracy and completeness are the responsibility of the author(s)

References should be given in a standard form, as in the following examples:

BOOKS

One author

M. Pollan, The Omnivore's Dilemma: A Natural History of Four Meals, New York: Penguin, 2006, 120-125.

PLEASE NOTE: If a work has already been cited in the article, after the first citation the Author's name is omitted, as well as the secondary title and publishing informations, as in the following example:

Pollan, The Omnivore's Dilemma, 120-125.

Two or more authors

G.C. Ward, K. Burns., The War: An Intimate History, 1941-1945, New York: Knopf, 2007, 72-86.

PLAYS (Acts, Scenes)

Act III, scene ii, line 297' should be written as 'III, ii, 297'

WEBSITE

A citation to website content can often be limited to a mention in the text or in a note ("As of July 19, 2008, the McDonald's Corporation listed on its website..."). If a more formal citation is desired, it may be styled as in the examples below. Because such content is subject to change, include an access date or, if available, a date that the site was last modified.

"Google Privacy Policy," last modified March 11, 2009, <http://www.google.com/intl/en/privacypolicy.html>.

"McDonald's Happy Meal Toy Safety Facts," McDonald's Corporation, accessed July 19, 2008, <http://www.mcdonalds.com/corp/about/factsheets.html>.

EDITORIAL STYLE

In order to avoid common problems of style:

1. use quotation marks

a) when a standard term is used in a nonstandard way: ‘nnnnnn’

b) to indicate the beginning and ending of a direct quotation: “nnnnnn”;

2. Quotations longer than 3-4 lines should be displayed. Please indent them or type as a separate paragraph with a line space above and below.

3. italics may be used only sparingly for words in foreign languages, as well as to introduce and emphasize important terms.

PERMISSION TO REPRODUCE

If illustrations are borrowed from published sources, written permission must be obtained from the copyright holder and a credit line acknowledging the source added to the caption. Such permission must be obtained and acknowledged also for quotations totalling more than 300 words and for tables borrowed verbatim from published sources. Permission letters should accompany the manuscript.

PROOFS

Page proofs will be sent to the author for correction of typographical errors only. In the case of two or more authors please indicate to whom the proofs should be sent.
